Bintus new collection

Bintu is so excited and thinks that especially her new collection turned out really well. She is eager to tell her friend the news. She is so excited that she goes into raptures - she presents the nice design and the new features to her friend and even tells the whole story behind the making. Afterwards, Bintus' friend is equally excited and wants to buy the product.

The aim of cultural heritage interpretation

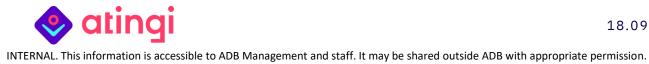

Cultural heritage interpretation does not only mean the transmission of information. It rather aims at provoking interest and learning about historical, natural and cultural resources, objects and places, understanding its origin and relationships. To be effective, cultural heritage interpretation must develop a "sense of identity" of a community.

Blended Learning – digital & remote at your own pace

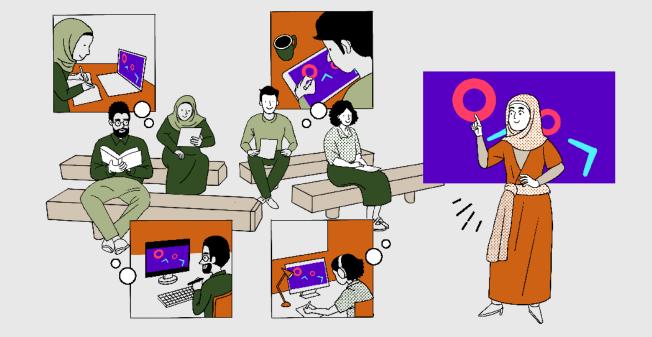

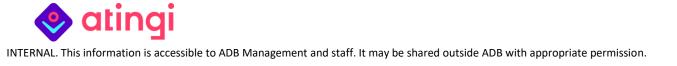

18.09.2023

0

Flipped Classroom

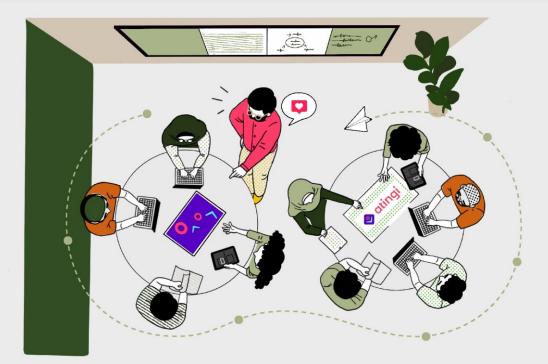

Learn basics at home first. Deepen your understanding in classroom further.

Tutored Group Work

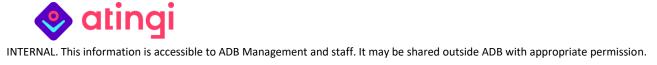

Learn with a Digital Device alone or in groups – Teachers helps individually.

Digitally Assisted Teaching

Teacher uses Digital Content in Classroom.

Digital Homework and Assessments

Review the lesson learnt with online and digital assessments. We suggest this mode of assessment for CAREC.

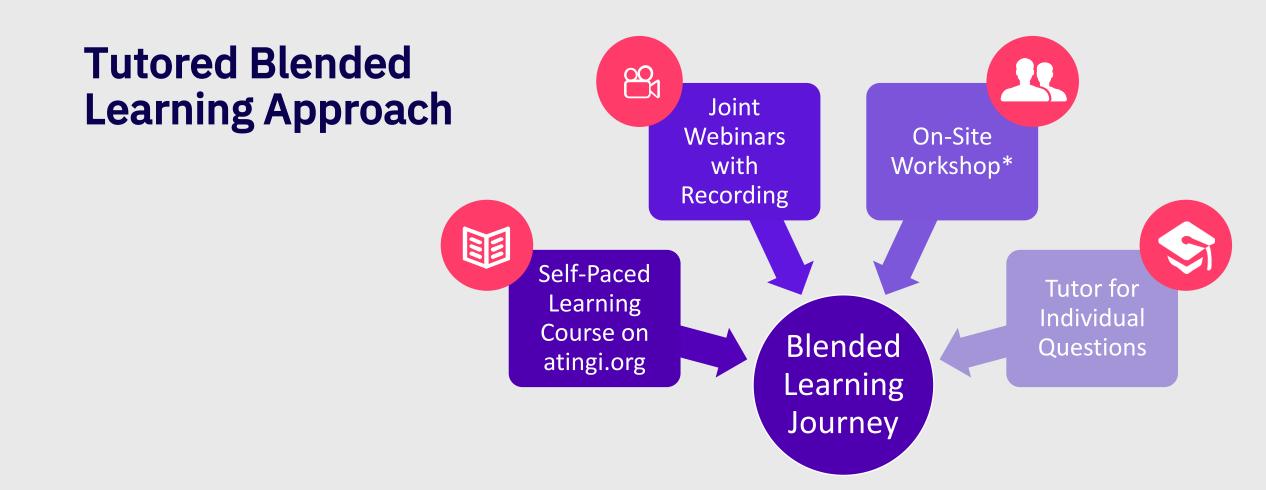

Asynchrounous Online Learning for Dispersed Groups

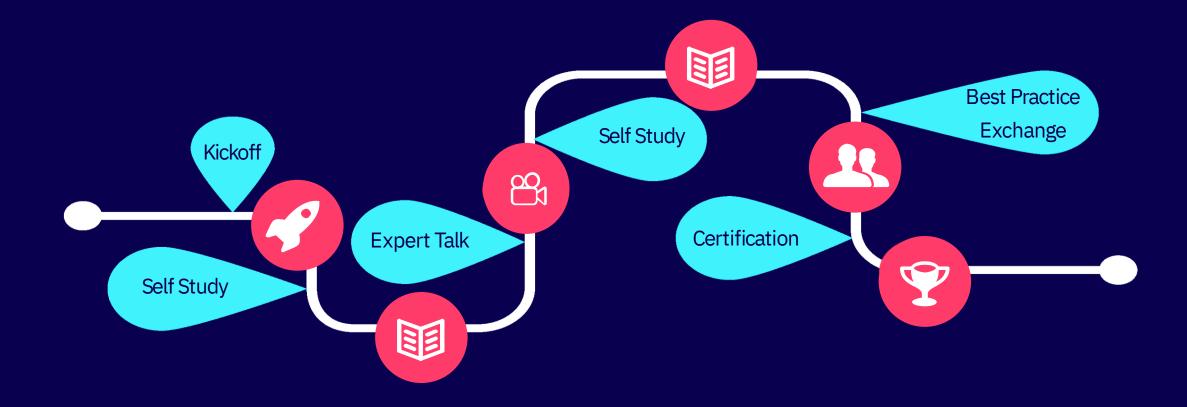

Webinars and Self-Paced Learnings for Learners not in the same country – should be combined with live webinars. Our approach for CAREC.

Tutor tasks

Compared to self-paced learning, the tutor supports the participants continuously throughout the blended learning process.

2

The tutor provides bridge activities between sessions. This enhances reliability and motivation and prevents dropouts.

Group sessions focus on answering questions / reflecting and adapting content for the participant's context, social learning, co-creation and best practice exchange.
