

Initiatives undertaken to establish knowledge management and sharing systems based on the WCO theme

“Nurturing the next generation: promoting a culture of knowledge-sharing and professional pride in Customs”

The President of Turkmenistan Serdar Berdimuhamedov:

“Today, the main part of the population of our country is the young generation formed during the years of independence. We look at the youth as creators of the future of our native Fatherland.”

"Happy Youth with Arkadag Serdar"

To create broad opportunities for the full participation of young people in the economic, political and cultural life of our country, educate the younger generation in the spirit of the spiritual and moral traditions of our people, patriotism, humanity and hard work, support and encourage their social and political activity, personal initiatives the year of 2023 has been declared the year "Happy Youth with Arkadag Serdar"

“Nurturing the next generation: promoting a culture of knowledge-sharing and professional pride in Customs”

In 2023, under the slogan “Nurturing the next generation: promoting a culture of knowledge-sharing and professional pride in Customs”, the WCO Secretariat is inviting Members to reflect on how they support newly hired staff, promote knowledge sharing and build pride in belonging to the organization and the global customs community.

Capacity building measures focusing on the younger generation:

- Interviews with family members of newly recruited staff;

- Watching patriotic films;

- Propaganda lectures by honorary elders of Turkmenistan, as well as veterans and honored workers of the Service;

Capacity building measures focusing on the younger generation:

- Training of young specialists with the involvement of international experts;
- Organization of visits to museums under the patriotic education program;
- Using the information and analytical center of the head office of the SCST for distance learning.

Interviews with family members of newly hired staff

Watching patriotic films. Stills from the movie “My Grandfather is a Customs Officer”

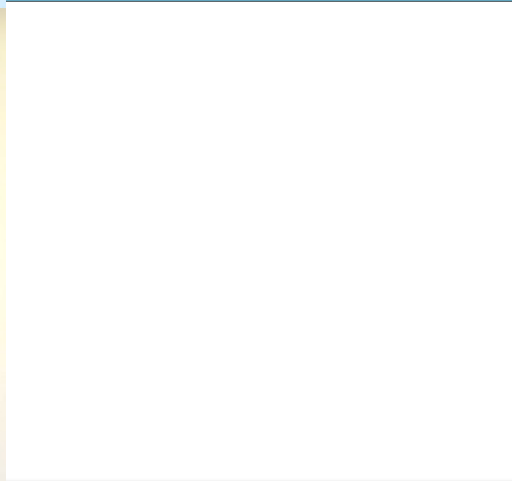

Propaganda lectures by honorary elders of Turkmenistan, as well as veterans and honored workers of the Service

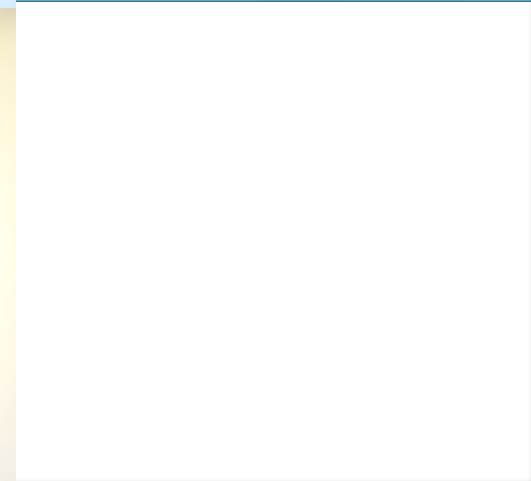

Training of young specialists with the involvement of international experts

Organization of visits to museums under the patriotic education program

Organization of visits to museums under the patriotic education program

Using the information and analytical center of the head office of the SCST for distance learning

The new building of the head office of the SCST has the information and analytical center, the videoconference facilities of which are used for classes simultaneously conducted by one instructor for participants of several audiences located in different venues independently of the distance from the information and analytical center.

The Library at the SCST Head Office

Thank you for your attention!