

Speaker: Mr. Shujun ZOU

Rick Zou (Shujun) Senior Economist for the Transfer and Transformation of Scientific and Technological Achievements in Shanghai, CEO of the National Eastern Tech-transfer Center (NETC), Deputy Head of the General Group and Head of the Investment and Financing Group of China Artificial Intelligence Industry Development Alliance (AIIA), Adviser on Sustainable Financial Technology Development of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), Deputy Secretary-General of Zhongguancun Shuzhi Artificial Intelligence Industry Alliance. He has served as Vice Chairman of "Belt and Road Initiative" Science and Technology Innovation Alliance, Digital Economy Industry Partner of APEC Global Innovators Conference, and the first National Executive Committee of the Global Outstanding Youth Community of the World Economic Forum. He is now responsible for the overall coordination and future strategic deployment of NETC, coordinate the promotion of the integration strategy of the Yangtze River Delta, build the InnoMatch global technology supply and demand docking platform to effectively connect the government policy, institutions, investment, enterprises, universities and technology parks, and committed to promoting international exchanges and cooperation, regional economic linkage, and implementing the country's "Belt and Road Initiative" strategic plan.